THE NEWSLETTER FOR THE PROFESSIONAL CONTRACTOR

Changes...

In March of 1995, we published our first edition of PROLINES, our periodic, contractor newsletter for the professional Contractor. I hoped to communicate to our customers, vendors and friends various market conditions, industry trends, news and general “what’s going on” in the company. It was just a small part of our mission to; “be the premier supplier of wood and wood related building products to the construction market of Southern Alberta”. The initial issue was printed on orange craft paper and inserted into our Monthly Statement mail outs, and as a front desk hand out. It has evolved into this electronic format and within our web site presence; www.delumber.com just follow the Prolines link for past issues all the way back to 2008. Change is good and necessary.

On the topic of change, I began my journey of employment in 1978 and have decided to announce my departure from Davidson Enman as I embark on another journey. I plan to continue my charitable work and involvement in the construction industry through my new company; Dande Holdings Ltd. I would like to thank our customers past and present and our staff for their support over the last forty years. I wish the new shareholders continued success and good fortunes.

Sincerely,

Greg Davidson
