BEARDED MAN SEEN IN CASKET WINDOW AT UNION CEMETERY

Oshawa, Sept 26—The discovery of a cast iron casket with a plate glass window, and containing a bearded corpse, has been made in an older section of the Union Cemetery. Workmen digging a grave in the section formerly known as the Presbyterian burying ground, were surprised when their picks rang on the cast-iron surface. Further digging revealed the casket.

Because iron caskets are so rare, undertakers cleaned it and discovered a sliding section in the top that revealed the plate glass window. Through the window could be seen the bearded face of the corpse still intact. The casket is of grey cast iron with the lid fastened down with set screws.

It is estimated that the burial of the casket took place about 85 years ago, and that it was shipped here from the southern section of the United States. The casket has been replaced and the grave filled in.

PRIZE NAMED AFTER CHARLES FAREWELL

Oshawa, July 16—Robert Sugden, 12, of Harmony School, won the Charles Farewell prize, awarded in memory of that pioneer of education, in the entrance examinations, this June. Created to commemorate a lifetime of service in the cause of better schools, the prize was first put up for competition last year, and was won by Donald Sugden, a cousin of Robert.

The prize is open to competition among pupils of the fourth class at Harmony School.

Noted for their interest in education, the Farewells established the first school in East Whitby before the middle of the last century, Miss Florence Farewell told The Star. "In my grandfather's day there wasn't one who could read or write, within a radius of 20 miles, she added.

Devoted to the cause of education for 40 years, a school trustee and chairman of the board of S.S. No. 1, East Whitby, in which Harmony School is located, Charles, her father, went down to York, year after year to plead for better teachers in the rural schools, she stated.

DEATH OF JAMES OMAR CLIFFORD

Last Saturday morning (Apr. 23) the death occurred at his home, Athol Street, Oshawa, of James Omar Clifford, in his 78th year, a well known and highly esteemed resident of Oshawa and East Whitby Township, and a pioneer of the county, one who has been long and favorably known by residents of the community.

The late J. O. Clifford was born in Stanstead, Province of Quebec, in 1843, and was the son of an early pioneer of that section.

The deceased, when a lad of eight came to Ontario County and for seventy years resided in the township of East Whitby, farming successfully for over 50 years on the old homestead, lot six, concession one, of that township, now occupied by his son, L. O. Clifford. He married Elizabeth Drew, a daughter of the late Lorne Drew, and brother of L. E. Drew of Oshawa.

The deceased was an expert agriculturalist and well known farmer, and for many years was a prominent stock breeder. For a number of years he served as a member of the Council of the Township of East Whitby. In fraternal circles, for 30 years he was a member of the Canadian Order of Home Circles, and in religion was one of the oldest members of the Christian Church, Oshawa. A man of the highest integrity, enjoying the respect of a wide circle of friends in the community in which he had so long been a prominent figure, his passing will be deeply regretted.

He retired from active work thirteen or fourteen years ago, and since that time has lived in Oshawa, where up to a little over a year ago he was a familiar figure on the streets.

The surviving members of the family are his sorrowing widow, three sons, L O. Clifford and Burton C., prominent farmers of East Whitby and the County, and L. J. Clifford, of Boston, Mass., and one daughter, Mrs. (Dr.) F. H. Henry, of Oshawa, all of whom have the sincere sympathy of the community at large in their bereavement.

The funeral took place on Monday afternoon (April 25) from the family residence, Athol Street West, at 2:30 to the Union Cemetery. The services were conducted by Prof. J. N. Dales, of Dayton, Ont., a former pastor.

DEMILL COLLEGE DESTROYED BY FIRE

Oshawa – Demill College burned to the ground Monday night (April 6). There is said to have been a burnout in one of the chimneys during the afternoon, and the girls who occupied rooms near it state that there was a strong smell of fire from that time until 7 o'clock, when the alarm was given. It is even stated that some girls were so certain the place was a fire somewhere that they packed their trunks. The alarm drew a crowd of more than a thousand people, far away as the place was from residential centres. The thieving element was there ahead of everybody else, of course, and flew from room to room on the pretense of saving articles, but really pocketing watches and other jewellery, brushes, ornaments and other small valuables. The fire being confined to the roof for more than an hour, the barest of this pilfering salvage corps was rich. In the meantime honest men arrived in sufficient numbers to carry out the equipment of the college to a large extent.; a piano or two and some furnishings being left to the flames. The firemen knew there was no water on the college elevation with which to put out a fire so they sent the hand engine, which got stuck in the mud several times on the way. It was an hour or more in reaching the building; and when it got there was hauled about in all directions, but could not find even a barrel of water. It would probably been useless to put out a fire on the tower of the building. The hose was taken up and the steam engine sent for. It was located at a creek, a quarter of a mile away and 150 feet lower than the building, and when the squirt came it could barely reach the sills of the second row of windows. Such efforts had long been useless for by this time the heart of the building had burned out and caved several times and the ends were burning furiously in every quarter. "The college is doomed!" said a prominent business man as soon as he heard of its being on fire, and he was right. There has nothing to do but stand and see this fine educational institution burn away. Councillor Dyer bethought himself to get two or three aldermen together and appoint some men to act as constables and protect the saved contents, which were scattered all over the grounds, and were being run away with in all directions. The balance of the crowd looked on until they were tired out and went home sorry. Rev. A. B. Demill has worked day and night since 1870 to make the college what it was. A quarter of a century ago it was hard to interest people in the special education of girls, and one would wonder how the worthy Principal ever accomplished as much, working against so many obstructions. The loss was between $25,000 and $30,000, while the insurance was $20,000. The town put $5,000 into the building fund in 1875, and we suppose will have to do so again, or loose the institution, as other towns are bidding for it, especially Cobourg, where the old Victoria College building is idle. The Vindicator says that the steam fire engine only began to play on the building at 8:50, and if it had been on hand promptly, there would have been no less but a hole in the roof. If anybody was present to represent the Vin., he must have seen that when the engine did commence playing, it was unable to throw a stream to the middle of the second row of windows, the elevation being so great from the spot where the engine was located at the creek. It is all a matter of opinion, but to our mind a fire brigade and all its apparatus is useless where water is not provided for their use.

[Rest of article deals with the newspapers and the fire brigade.]

OLD NEGLECTED CEMETERY HOLDS GRAVES OF PIONEERS

FAMILY OF ELDER THOMAS HENRY

Oshawa, Sept. 2—On a little knoll just east of Oshawa harbor and commanding a splendid view of the harbor and the lake is an old neglected cemetery. Here lie buried the earliest pioneers in this district, among them the late Elder Thomas Henry, one of the most interesting figures in local history. Thomas Henry was the oldest son of the late John and Nancy Henry, who with their seven children, four boys and three girls, came to Upper Canada in 1811 from County Cavan, Ireland. Last month, descendants of Thomas Henry and his two brothers, William and James Henry, who number a large host throughout Canada and the United States, gathered at Puslinch Lake, near Guelph, for a family reunion.

Elder Henry, or Father Henry as he was affectionately called in later years, had himself 15 children, all of whom reached maturity except one. The youngest of these, Mrs. J. L. McGill, is still living and resides at 102 Agnes St., Oshawa. Although 81 years old, she has no grey hairs and is active both mentally and physically.

Thomas Henry was in his lifetime a pioneer, a preacher, a harbor Master, an acquaintance of William Lyon Mackenzie, a friend of rebel refugees, and at all times a vigorous advocate of political and religious liberty.

The youthful son of the Irish immigrants from Cavan County had already taken part in the War of 1812 and met General Brock, Judge Powell and the future Archbishop Strachan, when in 1816 his father took up land near the mouth of Oshawa Creek. When 19, young Henry bought 110 acres of land and cleared what is now Lakeview Park. He married Betsy Davis, daughter of a nearby settler, and built with his own hands the third frame house in Whitby Township.

His second home, constructed of limestone ballast dumped out of schooners from Kingston, still stands in Lakeview Park, and is occupied by Nat Smith, caretaker. It is one of Oshawa's oldest landmarks.

These early years were years of religious searching and Thomas Henry became converted. The converts were solemnly baptised in Lake Ontario on the beach used by thousands of bathers in the summer. The young convert so distinguished himself that he was later ordained into the Christian ministry.

On one occasion, Elder Henry married a negro couple. An awkward pause followed the ceremony, so he suggested that the groom salute the bride, but she insisted on kissing the minister first.

In the rebellion of 1837, Thomas Henry was in sympathy with the rebels, although he took no active part in the cause. Of William Lyon Mackenzie he wrote: "He was a staunch reformer and friend to his county."

Grandchildren of Elder Henry residing in this district include Dr. F. L. Henry, Edwin Henry. Mrs. C. DeGuerre and Mr. F. Guy, all of Oshawa; Mrs. Howard Wilson, Harmony and Warren Dearborn, East Whitby.

DEATH OF MRS. ROBERT McLAUGHLIN

FORMERLY MRS. GEORGE McCULLOUGH

Oshawa, March 29--Mrs. Eleanor McLaughlin, widow of the late Robert McLaughlin, founder of the McLaughlin Carriage Company, of Oshawa, died at her home here yesterday, aged 93. She was a well known resident of Oshawa, and one of the early pioneers of Ontario County.

For 31 years, Mrs. McLaughlin had been a resident of this city, but it was in 1851 that she came to Canada at the age of 11, and lived with her parents near Enfield Ont.

Even in her late years, Mrs. McLaughlin had the faculty of remembering very clearly the interesting happenings of long ago, and her tales of early days in Central Ontario were the delight of scores of younger friends.

Eleanor Smith was born in Tunbridge Wells, Eng., in 1840. She came to Canada in 1851 and completed her education at the little school in the village of Enfield. She married George McCullough, of Columbus, Ont. and moved with him to that village. She was a resident there for some time even after the death of her husband, and it was there she Thirty-one years ago, Mrs. McCullough married Robert McLaughlin, founder of the McLaughlin Carriage company.

Since coming to Oshawa, she has been an active member of St. Andrew's United Church. Her garden was her hobby and she took a natural pride in what is one of the beauty spots of Oshawa.

PLANS FOR NEW ARMORY

Oshawa—The plans for the new Armory reached town this week. They fall far short of being specifications for the fine building expected from the representations made by Col. Hughes. The fine architecture he so vividly pictured must have been all in his mind. At least none of it got into the plans. They are nothing more or less than plans for a large drill shed. Perhaps the people that have been kicking against the granting of a site had an idea what kind of building we would get. If they had, they had some grounds for their objections.

OSHAWA WOULD BE ONTARIO'S TWENTY-FIFTH CITY

If Oshawa goes through with its ambitious plan to be incorporated as a city, it will be the 25th city in Ontario.

The boosters in Oshawa claim the town has a population in excess of the legal requirement of 15,000, permitting action by the railway and Municipal Board. That seems to be pretty good growth, for the assessed population for 1922 is given as 11,582. But even though Oshawa fell short of 15,000, it might be possible to get a special act through the legislature transforming the town into a city. That is the course a number of places have taken.

Oshawa certainly has a larger population than a number of communities which have been "swelling" themselves as cities for a good many years. For instance, Welland has a population of only 8,800, Woodstock has 10,164, Own Sound boasts of 12,360, Bellville holds up to head with 12,314, Galt has 13,332.

BURIED WITH FULL HONORS

George Craig, of Oshawa, Was Instantly Killed by Sniper.

The following letter, giving details of the burial of her son, Pte. George Craig, recently reported killed in action, was yesterday received by Mrs. Thomas Lyons, of 127 Barrie street, Oshawa, from Lieut. Richard V.

Ponton, of the 2nd Battallon. The letter was dated March 8.

"It is my painful duty to inform you that your son, George Craig, was killed in action to-day at 7 a.m. I am glad to say that he did not suffer any pain, having been struck in the head

Pte. Geo. Craig by a German sniper. George was one of the finest men I had, a good soldier, and a good example to the others. We buried him behind the British lines with military honors, and I have marked the grave with a cross bearing full particulars. I will send you a full description of the location of the grave."

TWO SONS HAVE BEEN KILLED.

Of the three sons of Mr. Harry Wood of Oshawa who have gone overseas with the Canadian contingents, two have laid down their lives and the third son has been wounded. When the first call came for volunteers in August, 1914, Leon Wood, 22 years old, enlisted with the 2nd Battalion as a private. After arriving in France he was made a sergeant. He was killed June 5, 1916, at Ypres.

The second son, Thomas Wood, 24 years of age, enlisted in January, 1915, with the 37th Battalion. After being transferred to a Toronto Highland unit he was also made a sergeant. He fell in action at the Somme on September 26 last.

The eldest son, Harry Wood, 27 years old, joined the 37th Battalion January 18 last, and was later transferred to a Second Contingent unit. He was wounded September 15, and is now in a hospital in England.

The father of the boys came to Oshawa from Shoeburyness, Essex, England, ten years ago. He is 51 years old. When the telegram announcing the death of his son Tom was received, the only son left at home, a boy of ten years, said, "Mother, may I go now?"

Deceased was born in Port Hope in 1867 and came to Oshawa about sixteen years ago. He was a member of Corinthian Lodge of Oddfellows and also of the Chosen Friends. He leaves a widow and five children to mourn the loss of a worthy husband and parent. His funeral on Tuesday at the Union Cemetery was one of the largest seen here for some time, and the parade of lodges and mechanics was very extensive. DEATH OF ROBERT FAREWELL

Oshawa—Word was received by Dr. Farewell on Sunday (July 31) that his brother, Robert, of Revelstoke, B. C., had been killed in a hand car accident on the C. P. R. Deceased will be remembered by the older residents of Oshawa. He was a son of the late George Farewell of Harmony, a machinist by trade, and for years employed in the Joseph Hall Machine Works. He left Oshawa some 15 years ago, and settled in Revelstoke where he was employed as an expert machinist by the C. P. R. Co. Particulars of the accident by which he met his death are not yet known. In the far west the only communication between small towns is by hand car, and a great many people travel in that way. It's supposed that with taking such a trip with a party the car has been either struck by a train or jumped the track. The body will be brought here for burial which will take place from the old family residence in Harmony at 2:30 p.m. on Saturday (Aug. 6)—Reformer.

DEATH OF ROBERT M. GOODMAN

One of the oldest printers and newspapermen in Ontario died at Oshawa Saturday (June 3) in the person of R. M. Goodman, aged 81 years. He printed the first copy of the Oshawa Freeman-Advocate, now the Ontario Reformer, and was identified at another period with the Oshawa Vindicator. He retired from active journalism twenty years ago, but from time to time would take up the task again, just to show that he had not forgotten the business.

DEATH OF ROBERT McLAUGHLIN

Oshawa, Nov. 23—Robert McLaughlin, founder of the McLaughlin Carriage Company, and known from coast to coast, passed away early this afternoon. Mr. McLaughlin had been sick about ten days. He was 85 years old last Friday [Nov. 18].

A particularly sad feature of the veteran manufacturer's death is that his son, R. S. McLaughlin, president of General Motors of Canada, is on his way home from England. It was hoped he would arrive before his father's death, but he is not expected to arrive at New York until Thursday [Nov. 24].

The illness which proved fatal was the only sickness which Mr. McLaughlin had during his long and eventful life. One of the pioneer manufacturers of Canada, Mr. McLaughlin long endured the respect and confidence of his business associates.

Deceased was born near Peterboro. He set up his business of carriage manufacturing at Enniskillen, Durham County, in 1867. For the first few years he had an up-hill fight, but in 1877 moved to Oshawa where new buildings were erected. In 1899, his entire factory was consumed by fire, but before the ashes were cold it was decided to build a new and larger establishment. This was done and as a result Oshawa is known as “The Little Detroit of Canada,” the company having entered the manufacture of motor cars about 1905. In 1919, the business of the McLaughlin Company was merged into a unit of the world’s greatest automobile industry, General Motors Corporation.

McLaughlin was a public-spirited citizen. He was first president of the Oshawa YMCA, and a benefactor of Knox College and a strong supporter of the Presbyterian Church. The Muskoka Sanitarium received his sympathetic interest, he having taken the initiative in calling the meeting for Central Ontario a few weeks ago when the campaign was launched to raise funds to help in reducing the debt of the institution. He served as mayor of Oshawa and a director of the Western Bank up to the date it was merged into the Standard Bank.

He is survived by his widow; two sons, George W. and R. S.; two daughters, Mrs. J. P. Owens and Mrs. McCullough, Toronto; 16 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren; one brother and one sister. His eldest son, John J., of J. J. McLaughlin Ltd., Sherbourne Street, Toronto, predeceased him ten years ago.

DEATH OF S. H. GRAHAM

Oshawa, March 31-Mr. S. H. Graham, editor of the Oshawa Vindicator, died suddenly of heart failure at his home here yesterday. The news came as a great shock and surprise to the citizens, as deceased was a stalwart and apparently perfectly healthy man, who led a most active and busy life, and who, up to a few hours of his death, showed no signs of any physical weakness whatever, always enjoying the best of health. He retired as usual on Sunday night (Mar. 29) but about 5 o'clock yesterday morning complained of a severe fainting spell. Dr. Kaiser was called and spent a couple of hours with him and then left. Later, he was again called, but deceased expired soon afterwards.

Mr. Graham had been employed in the newspaper business all his life, having served his apprenticeship with Mr. E. Mundy in the Standard office at Port Perry. From there he went to the County Town, Whitby, where in partnership with Capt. Henderson, he edited and published the Whitby Chronicle. He remained there six or seven years and then moved to Hamilton, where he edited the Royal Templar. In 1902 he moved to Oshawa and purchased the Oshawa Vindicator, the Conservative organ of this town, which business he carried on up to the present time. Deceased was a member of the Chosen Friends and Royal Templar Societies, in both of which he carried insurance. He married the eldest daughter of Mr. John Wakeley of this town, a former merchant of Port Perry, who, with two daughters, survives. Deceased was fifty-two years of age. The remains will be interred in the Union Cemetery here on Wednesday (Apr. 1).

OSHAWA ANGLICANS PLAN MAGNIFICANT STRUCTURE – ST.

GEORGE’S MEMORIAL CHURCH

If the present plans for the proposed new St. George’s Memorial Church in Oshawa are carried out to the letter, then Oshawa will be able to boast one of the finest church edifices in the Dominion of Canada, taking into consideration its appointments, architectural work and general appearance. This church, which is being erected as a memorial to the forty-seven members and adherents of St. George’s congregation who paid the supreme sacrifice in the Great War, will be a very massive structure and will equal or even excel any other church in this part of the county.

The plans were drafted by the well-known firm of Eden-Smith and Co., Architects, Toronto, and it may be safely said that the architectural work is everything that could be wished for. Approximately the outside dimensions of the entire building will be 160 feet by 80 feet. The approximate dimensions of the large tower will be about twenty-four feet square at the base and ninety feet in height.

St. George's Memorial Church - 2

The church will be built of Credit Valley Rubble and finished with Indiana Sandstone, which will present an unusually handsome and attractive appearance, while the interior will be the last word in architectural work-made for all departments of church work.

The outstanding feature will be the cathedral chimes, which are to be installed in the massive tower, in memory of one of the old and honored families of Oshawa. These chimes will also be, if installed according to the proposed plans, perfect in every detail and may be heard by Oshawa citizens every fifteen minutes of the day.

It is expected that a number of memorial windows will be installed, one of which will be for a former old resident of Oshawa, the, bequest being in charge of a banking institution at the present time.

The new church is to be erected on the spacious property at the corner of Centre and Bagot Streets, which has a depth of two hundred feet, with a large frontage on both Bagot and Centre Streets. When building operations are completed, Oshawa Anglicans will have the rectory, Sunday School and Church together in one block, and

DEATH OF THOMAS CONANT

Oshawa, March 15—The death of Mr. Thomas Conant occurred at age 63 on Tuesday evening [March 14] at “Buena Vista,” the family residence on the outskirts of Oshawa, and overlooking the waters of Lake Ontario, after a somewhat protracted illness, accentuated by a serious attack of la grippe, contracted about ten days ago. Mr. Conant was descended from Roger Conant, U.E. Loyalist, who came to Canada from Massachusetts in 1786 and who obtained grants of lands from the Crown, some of which are still in the possession of the Conant family. Mr. Conant rather prided himself on his lineage and descent and was ever known as a true Britisher and a staunch Canadian. He received his early education at the grammar schools of Oshawa and Whitby and at Eddytown Seminary, near Geneva, N.Y. and was proficient in modern languages. Mr. Conant enjoyed the distinction of being the largest landowner in this section of the country and always possessed the confidence and regard of his tenantry. Mr. Conant was much given to travel and as a youth during the American war, visited Gettysburg and other noted battlefields of that bloody conflict. Afterwards he travelled the continent over and made many trips to Europe and went then around the world.

Death of Thomas Conant (Keystone) - 2

Mr. Conant always maintained that Canada is the equal of any country beneath the sun, and was often heard to remark that the opportunities offered here for obtaining that independence, comfort and convenience requisite to the development of all that pertains to a true manhood in a progressive age were to be had in Canada as in no other land, with the possible exception of the United States.

Mr. Conant was an author of repute, his pen having given to the world "Upper Canada Sketches" and "Life in Canada," both of which volumes have attained a large circulation in two continents at least. As a newspaper correspondent Mr. Conant became widely known some years ago by his letters of travel which from time to time appeared in the columns of The Globe and other journals of Canada. He was a member of the Historical Society of Canada and the Forestry Association of the Dominion.

Mr. Conant is survived by his widow; one son, Gordon D., a student in Toronto University; and four daughters, Mrs. F. G. Brethour, Toronto; Mrs. H. B. Myers, Barrie; Mrs. T. E. Baker, Oshawa; and Miss Edna at home. Mr. Conant is mourned as a devoted husband and an indulgent parent. In religion a Methodist, in politics a lifelong Liberal, Mr. Conant enjoyed the distinction of being considered a true-hearted friend and a

DEATH OF WARNER L. BROWN

Death severed one of Oshawa's links with the pioneer days on Christmas Day (Dec. 25) with the passing of Warner L. Brown, well known local business man of the past three decades. The late Warner L. Brown was born in the village of Pickering more than sixty-five years ago and came to Oshawa to live, shortly after his marriage to Miss Sophie J. Ward thirty-three years ago. He had been ill for several months, and while his passing was not unexpected, it was not the less regretted by a host of friends and acquaintances made during more than thirty years of active business life, beginning back in the days when Oshawa was little more than a small town.

For years the late Mr. Brown was in business together with Wm. Ward, of Oshawa and operated the Brown and Ward Livery Stable, on the four corners. After several years the partners bought out another business and moved to a location on Simcoe Street North. Some years later, Mr. Brown ran a livery business of his own and in later years was associated with real estate.

OSHAWA INSTALLING TOWN WATER SYSTEM

Oshawa—The installing of the town water system is now about completed. This week tests have been made to find out the defects which will cause a week or two's delay in the final rush of water. The pressure has not been very hard yet as compared with what it will be when the water is being forced to the top of the water tower, and it is pretty hard to tell how many weak spots there are. The town water commissioners are very modest gentlemen or else they might have asked for a little blowout to celebrate the opening of this great system. No event of half as much importance has ever occurred in the history the town. If we can have holidays to celebrate nothing, surely we could have spent half a day starting the water works. It is important that the sale of water be prompted and no better advertisement could have been given the sale of water than to have had the whole town spend a day investigating the system.—
